

Proof Good Leadership Works:

- Our Economy is Gaining Strength
- Our Quality of Life is Improving
- Our Community is Being Recognized

Promises Made: When Harvey Rosen became Mayor, he promised to get the economy growing. Now, investment is increasing, hundreds of jobs have been created. Harvey Rosen promised to tackle long overdue infrastructure projects. Council is taking action on every one of the seven priorities it set. Harvey Rosen promised a better relationship with provincial and federal governments. Kingston has started to get its fair share of government funding. Promises Kept.

Vision:

- More affordable housing
- A redeveloped Lake Ontario Park
- Safe neighborhoods
- Solutions for commuters in Kingston East
- An economy with strong public and private sectors
- Reduced load on residential taxes to fund services
- Kingston as a regional leader.

Courage:

- To lead at Council and in the community
- To be decisive; opportunity passes by when all we do is talk
- To put forward ideas, not wait for others to tell us what to do
- To consult and take the views of others into account
- To vote with conscience
- To keep promises.

Results:

- City projects that protect the environment
- Strong job creation
- A booming construction industry
- Strong housing starts
- A stronger voice for Kingston with provincial and federal governments
- Partnerships with local institutions
- A more effective Council.
